You are mistaken as you believe Man and God are bound in a moral, historic obligational relationship. God was the first liar in the Garden; God was/is the greatest lawbreaker, those which It gave Man It often wilfully broke upon Itself and Man; and God was/is the greatest murderer and slaver. It's not Satan—unless Fiend and God are the same person, which they are—or Man, which can only do as a mortal divers animal can. It takes God for good men to do "evil" deeds.

Proof of no God is Its not telling anyone about their corruptions and trespasses, those which span whole cultures and nations. That my mind could grasp so much greater than it was taught shows I am smarter and greater than anyone's God.)

Let us review now examples of evidence for the existence of God, soul, another world, etc., about which physicists know jolly well, but do NOT inform the society about these, nor teach these to their students. Most vital examples of this evidence are as follows:

1. Transverse character of electromagnetic waves. As we know, transverse waves propagate exclusively on the border between two media. This in turn means, that electromagnetic waves have such a transverse character only because (and also exist only because) apart from our visible world there is another invisible world in which God lives and our souls reside. In turn these transverse electromagnetic waves propagate just along the border of our visible physical world, and this another invisible "counter-world". It is why electromagnetic waves are transverse waves, not any other type. For more information on this subject – see the formal scientific proof for the existence of counter-world published in item #D3 of the web page "dipolar_gravity.htm".

Radiation can be any of these polarisations: vertical y; horizontal x; circular y,x; oval (elliptic) ay,bx; longitudinal z; and linear yx,zy,xz. One should note that polarisation axes are pseudovectors, so the longitudinal photon carries no power, yet the extended structures of the others are proof of classic orbital trajectories. (For a listing of the three photons, three gravitons, and exposition of dark matter and contragravitational drift, see my other post on physicsworld.com's Dark energy.. articul.) Thus the z-photon or gamma/0 in coherent radiation can be used for invisibility at narrow angles.

Transverse propagation at interfaces—what are those, evanescent waves? which aren't even signals—catch all of the wave in its dimensions. Proof of interface is only proof of interface, not proof of medium as interface.

2. Corpuscular and wave nature of light and matter. This one is jolly well known to physicists. In turn the existence of it means, that light and matter exist simultaneously in two separate worlds. Namely these exist in our visible world of matter (in which light and matter are corpuscles). Also duplicates of these simultaneously exist in the "counter-world", which is closed to our senses, but in which God lives while our souls land after we die. (In the counter-world light and matter behave like waves.) For more information on this subject – see item #D1 of the web page "dipolar_gravity.htm".

This is rubbish. Matter is always corpuscular, and energy is always undular. That "physicists", who aren't physicists, mung the two doesn't mean there's another world. Light is not a thing, but a hap.

Re: Why physicists conceal the evidence on God, eternal soul, another world, etc. (PDE JP)

3. Ether (i.e. "counter-matter from the Concept of Dipolar Gravity). Towards the "ether" physicists show double standards. On one hand, they deny the existence of it, although for the counter-world in which this "ether" (i.e. "counter-matter") prevails, the experiment of Michelson-Morley of 1887 (which supposedly proved the non-existence of "ether") in fact loses its validity. On the other hand physicists loses, retard

keep introducing the existence of this substance under different names, e.g. vacuum, energy, etc. This is pity, as the intelligent ether is a kind of "liquid computer" which actually forms what the Christian religion calls "God Father", and from what God formed the entire physical world. For more information about "counter-matter" (ether) see item #B1 on the web page "evolution.htm", and also subsection I1.1 from monograph [1/5] – see the web page "text_1_5.htm".

aither = field

But is God the Father a theity, a deity, a pantheity, or a panentheity?

4. Kirlian Photography. This one directly shows "ghosts" ("spirits") of every physical object. For example, if one photographs with the Kirlian camera a place where a lost finger is missing, the whole finger is still visible in this place. This phenomenon is known as the "ghost-leaf effect". The description of it is provided in chapter C of treatise [7/2] – see the web page "text_7_2.htm".

Ghosts beat God anyday. God can't even shift furniture or send email.

5. Reversal of friction. The De Broglie's symmetry of the universe states, amongst others, that "every phenomenon has its own counter-phenomenon". But physicists stubbornly refuse to research the counter-phenomenon for friction, means the so-called "telekinesis". Reversely to friction causing a spontaneous absorption of motion and generation of heat, telekinesis causes a spontaneous absorption of proof of maths, not of God

Re: Why physicists conceal the evidence on God, eternal soul, another world, etc. (PDE JP)

6. The existence of magnetic field and electric field. If one considers the energy flows, NO field is able to exist in the absolute "nothing". If fields could exist in the absolute "nothing", then with the elapse of time all the energy from our part of the universe would flow out into the infinitive emptiness that must exist beyond the visible part of the universe. So after some time, the universe would lose all its energy and cease to exist. In turn if fields can only exist in "something", then this something must also be present wherever magnetic and electric fields interact with each other, means also in the physical vacuum. But since this physical vacuum in the physical world does NOT contain anything, than this means that the "something" which is the carrier of magnetic and electric fields (this

lose, retard

It holds whatever it carries.

"something" scientifically is called "counter-matter"), must exist in a world that is separate from our physical world. Thus the existence of magnetic field and electric field is a proof, that there is also another world apart from our physical world. This another world is called the "counter-world". It is it where God lives in, and where our spirits reside. More about the mechanism of operation of magnetic field and electrical field is explained in subsections H5.1 and H5.2 from volume 4 of monograph [1/5] – see the web page "text_1_5.htm".

No it's not.

As God makes the laws, rather than is under them, and potentials are in the same world as fields, the other world must make arbitrarily-custom and -intelligent dropbys in spite of the potentials.

Serpents who supervise the development of Earth's physics know jolly well that our learning of mechanism of operation of magnetic field and electric field leads to the confirmation of the existence of the counter-world in which God lives. Therefore these serpents do not allow that human physics describes these two fields in the sense of mechanism of their formation and interaction, but only allow that physicists describe these two fields in the sense of consequences which these fields cause. Therefore the present physical definitions of these two fields in fact tell us nothing about the mechanism of the formation of these fields.

Neither do you.

7. The existence and dipolar character of gravity field.

Gravity field displays all attributes of a dipolar field. This dipolar character of gravity field was already proven formally by the theory of everything called the Concept of Dipolar Gravity. So why present physics controlled by serpents still insists to describe the gravity field as a monopolar field? It turns out that the reason is this another world in which God lives. When gravity field is dipolar, then one pole of gravity must disappear from our physical world and reappear in a separate world, in which God lives. More about the

Both poles are in the same world. There are no event horizons between them other than the big bang. The other world is under wraps (rules) if not laws, as well, which isn't good enough for God.

8. Telepathy. Telepathy is a kind of "speech" which propagate through another world (i.e. through the "counter-world"). Thus the research on telepathy directly confirms the existence of another world in which God lives and our souls reside. Therefore physicists refuse to research telepathy. More about telepathy and mechanism of it, is provided on the web page "telepathy.htm".

nothing to do with God

9. Intelligence of elementary particles. Physicists with a great reluctance admit that the behavior of elementary particles displays intelligence. After all, intelligence supposedly is an attribute of living creatures only, not "inanimate" nature. In turn physicists panic completely when someone asks them about the meaning of intelligence of elementary particles. After all, intelligent elementary particles means that these particles are actually formed from the intelligent substance called "counter-matter" (in past called

You don't mean entanglement, do you. That's not intelligent. For every up there's a down. Can a mote ask its fellow motes to sacrifice themselves to save itself from some attractor-of-doom? Or do they bang among no better than they already know?

10. The ability of matter to transform (e.g. the equivalence of energy and matter). In order anything could transform into something else, there must exist an algorithm which describes the course and outcomes of this transformation. For example, in our computers the transformation of a disk file into a photograph on the screen is described by appropriate computer programs. In turn in our car the transformation of motion of pistons in the engine into the motion of the entire car is carried out by algorithm which is described geometrically in the design of subsequent parts of this car. (Means, as this would be expressed by computer scientists, it is carried out by the algorithm which is "hardwired" into the components of the car.) Thus the fact that in our physical world many substances, forms, and energies, can transform in another ones (e.g. matter can transform into energy, water can transform into ice, etc.) means, that somewhere "alive" algorithms which define the course and outcomes of these transformations must be written. In turn, if such algorithms are written somewhere, this means that there can also be written another kinds of algorithms, e.g. these ones which form the superior intelligent being called God. More information about the storing and execution of algorithms which control the operation of the universe is

There are no steps between matter and energy because energy is not a thing but a property. They do not transform; both are there all along. In lame pop speech, one says a electron and positron become two gamma rays and otherwise. But this set of four belong in the former set of two; the rays are only a mathematic trace of a set of waves which still belong of the notes. Yester the annihilation, the notes still send out waves of lesser energy; the notes keep +.5 and -.5, and the waves keep +1 and -1. Neither are 0, 1, and Arithmetic proof of God.

11. The existence of physical laws and the superior logic of these laws. Similarly as algorithms of transformations described in previous item, also "alive" algorithms which define the action of physical laws, must be written on some medium. Thus, this medium is also able to be the medium that carries programs of the superior intelligence of God. That in fact this medium contains the intelligence of the superior being, such as God, is proven by an exceptional logic and consistency of physical laws which operate in Intelligentia is action in spite of and against saide overall laws. A computer program is not intelligent. Man is your fake God, however.

our physical world. The logic of these laws indicates that laws of physics were invented and programmed by some intelligent being of the exceptionally superior ability to think logically. If laws of physics are shaped spontaneously at random, their content would be completely accidental, and thus in many cases they would mutually contradict each other. More information about the God's logic in the formation of Superposition is contradiction, as are kaòtic or multivalued sustems.

I also bewray a bunch of thermòkemic anòmalties in my treatise
"Refutation of Thermodynamic Laws".

12. The so-called "unexplained phenomena", i.e. ghosts, UFOs, shifting of people to different times, miracles, etc. The true reason for which physicists decisively refuse to research these phenomena, is that after solid investigations of these, it always turns out that each one of them in fact does exist. Also each one of them leads to the confirmation of either the existence of UFOs, or the existence of God. Serpents-UFO-nauts do know about this, thus they make it impossible for people to research such phenomena. Instead of researching these, UFO-nauts order people to believe that such phenomena are imaginations of drunks, balloons, mesmerizing, etc. In other words, they order to tell to all people experiencing these phenomena, that such people are liars. In turn physicists thoroughly obey this order.

They should know how God looks and works, and talk to and be God. So why doesn't God take requests?

So why physicists conceal from people the existence of this wealth of evidence about God, soul, another world, etc. After all, they themselves also loose a lot because of it. It turns out that the reason is very simple. Fear. They are afraid to write and to talk about it. As it turns out, our planet is secretly occupied by evil creatures, which the Bible calls "serpents", "dragons", "devils", etc., while present people call them "UFO-nauts". These creatures looks almost identical to people – after all they are close relatives of humans. So these creatures take all key positions in the human society – including positions of decision making in science. Extensive descriptions of these diabolic creatures, and also photographs showing these their sparse anatomic features which are slightly different from human features, are provided on the totaliztic web page called

lose, retard

B. Anatomy – the key for initial selecting candidates for more careful checking. First indications as to whom we should subject to a thorough observation provides their anatomy. In spite that UFO-nauts are our close relatives who originate from the same ancestors from the planet Terra as we do (see caption under Fig. #13 on the web page evil.htm), their civilization developed in separation from ours for almost 40 000 years. So in connection with their tendencies to enhance themselves genetically, this causes that their anatomy already starts to be slightly different from the human anatomy. Most vital out of these anatomical differences of UFO-nauts that occupy us, include amongst others: (1) hair that grows upward on their heads (not downward like in the majority of people) and showing the tendency to curl, (2) prolonged chin, frequently having two bulging buttock-like protrusions, (3) quite a different nose which either is sharp like a carrot and has a vertical small groove at the sharp tip, or is crooked like a hook, (4) pear-shaped head, (5) large ears that stick out, (6) long palm hands with very long fingers the length of which almost exceeds 1.5 width of their palm hands (e.g. see fingers in Buddha, or in Osama Bin Laden), and several other attributes.<

"evil.htm". These creatures are also operational on this discussion group – I already wrote about them in the threadhttp://groups.google.com/group/sci.physics/browse_thread/thread/f43b7.... Well, these evil creatures have a bad habit to persistently persecute, torment, scoff, slander, defame, etc., every scientists who

If 1 in 50 has these odd features, which "aren't human", then one should have more than looks to back your alien claim up, such as foreign DNA. One story in UFOfiles had a man who met two Mongoloid women in his bedroom one night, who had magic powers, and then did him. The other day some of their hairs were found, he had them checked at a lab, and the results were some Mongoloid DNA and some unknown.

Why do you believe these traits are alien? Do you know how diverse and polymorphic dogs have gotten over millennia of breeding and inbreeding? The latter and the keeping of demepools is all that's needed for the expression and growth of genetic variants and mutants, all on Earth. There are like 15 species between and beside primates and humans; Neanderthals had the bigger skulls and brains you bewray of UFO-nauts. Their size was why I think they died out; they couldn't fit through the pelvis, and either they or their mothers died.

I can't find anything about triangular irises or eyes on Google other than your site. Who are all these persons on TV with alien eyes?

tries to point the attention of society at evidence for the existence of God, soul, another world, etc. How such a slander, etc., looks like, readers can check in the Internet. For example in relation to myself examples of it are contained at addresses of the google discussion group sci.physics or another google group talk.origins. Thus when any scientist tries to present something that is a truth, he is immediately pounced at by these "serpents-UFO-nauts" and viciously destroyed. Very rarely anyone has a courage to stand up again in public with the same topic. And if he stands up again, he is again attacked, slandered, defamed, scoffed at, accused of lies, tormented, persecuted, sabotaged, etc.

I lookd at your evil.htm. All of your pages are very repetitive and redundant; it's a pain to look at a bunch. You know what—there is no evil. There are all kinds, bad kinds, dull kinds, in all animals; and there must be such diversity for one to survive, believe im or not. The world cannot susten billions of a kind at a upper class, nor a mid class. There must be selfishness and strife so thas the better, more–important ones can spread. Those who are wrong on either side should be whittled away in social selection. Are wildcats or wilddogs who get borede and hunt down humans or babies evil? They're social animals; they can tell between wriht and wrong, and harmth and gladth. Or if they like torture their prey, are they even then? (By the way, you should look at my link where I shew how God was evil.) They do only as wihts can do. Onely a fictionally–capabil being such as a god could be evil, as it could do anything yet chooses wrong harm for its own gain.

The concealing from the society the information about evidence for the existence of God, soul, another world, etc., causes enormous social mischief and harm. One kind of this harm results from the depriving people of the chance for taking an "informed decision" in matters of God, means from practically pushing people into atheism. How dangerous and harmful is such pushing people into atheism I know from my own fate. As a young boy I used to believe in claims of physicists, that there is absolutely no evidence for the existence of God, soul, another world, etc. Thus, until 39–th year of my own age, I was an atheist myself. Only in 1985 I discovered myself, that everything that my teachers and lecturers told me on this subject is an absolute lie. If I would not discover this lie myself, probably I would die as an atheist. I am horrified to even think what would happen then. After all, God emphasizes at almost every page of the Bible which He authorizes, that every person is solely responsible for finding and embracing God, and that every person is severely judged for fulfilling this responsibility. Thus, this first kind of social

The goal of a believer is to convert others intom belief out of self–preservation, no matter with disinformation or half–truthes; when there is belief, halfwits, dolts, and wacks will fall the most. You had no fast atheist and antitheist wisdom to back your mind, which needs no belief: <http://google.com/groups?q=Infidel-Quotes>. If only you knew how wrong God and Man are.

Re: Why physicists conceal the evidence on God, eternal soul, another world, etc. (PDE JP)

harm resulting from the collaboration of physicists with serpents–UFO-nauts, depends on the fact, that similarly to myself, millions of other people on Earth are misled and lied to by their teachers and lecturers of physics. It is scary to think what happens to these people if they persevere in these lies and do not find their own path to God. Another kind of social harm, results from the social immorality which always goes together with atheism. People who do not believe in God typically have no motivations nor inclinations to act morally in their lives. In this way present society goes increasingly deeper into the spiral of immorality from which there may not be exit. Thus, the fact that e.g. in present times almost each one of us is scared to go to streets at night, is one amongst numerous consequences of concealing by physicists the information about availability of vast evidence on God.

They do, morally or ethically. Ever heard of humanism or utilitarianism?

Is there any defense against these malicious "serpents–UFO-nauts" who force scientists to conceal the truth. Yes, it is. These serpents need to be exposed, and the knowledge about their actual existence, appearance, features, methods of acting, etc., should be disseminated amongst people. As the final goal we also need to assume the removal of these evil creatures from our planet into the bottomless pit of the cosmic space from which they crawled secretly to the Earth.

One of your pages says "you", or everyone is abducted by aliens at least every three months, and everyone has a legscar or shin-implant. Another page says everyone in your village has the scar or has been implanted. Do you mean your village, or the world? Your dimple doesn't look like any scar; and it would be trivial to scan or dig out any implant in anyone's bone. I can't tell where it is on your legshot; can you pick out the spot on a skeleton?

Your antiferromagnetic oscillatory chamber is almost as good as my ferrodiamagnetic [Lenz] inductor: <http://google.com/groups?q='beginner's-flying-saucer'>.
