Hi,
We are a company, looking to hire programmers and managerial assistants. Right now, we are looking for two managerial assistants and at least two programmers. You will be getting some pay + ownership of stocks of the company, worth in future monetary value. If you happen to be interested, email us at idatarm_[remove.badluck]@gmail.com

Suresh Devanathan(President)
And
Eva Devanathan(Vice-President)

So there will be a total of 4 people in management and 2 people doing coding?

well the 2 are managerial assistants! Their job will more likely be in marketing research or something.

Re: Startup Company information

"Or something"? Husband and wife startup and you are hiring without a business plan or parameterized DCF/ROI projections? Research is a luxury; sales are a necessity.

Folks, the first World has already died. The US created at least $3 trillion for its Muslim adventurism, another $3 trillion in the "highly leveraged" NINJA mortgage scandal; it's short a $trillion/year for Baby Boomer Social Security and Medicare payments (note Media hysteria telling Boomers to wait until 70 years of age before collecting SS – "for maximum benefit payback"). Credit card debt is at least $0.9 trillion at average 18% APR. Washington is paying a $trillion/year in Fed paper interest (via Ponzi borrowing). US culture of far-flung suburbia commuting to work can't be fueled by burning corn. The service economy disappears when folks need food over manicures. The US is overall some $65 trillion in the hole. You don't dig out from that. Invading Mexico won't fix it even with projected 2000 miles of Baja seashore condos and servants in place.

Outsourcing to Mumbai requires something to outsource.

Unless you are boosting bankruptcy attorneys or (armed) collection agencies, or moving corporations into euro countries, you are pretty well screwed on general principles. Watch Wall Street Tuesday morning. Are you starting a business as the Dow drops 1000 points/day? Said business had better be based upon selling short.

Godspeed to you. Given 30 crores of Hindu gods one supposes you've got a leg up on Christian Yahweh. Do something clever before Yahweh bites off your balls.
