

Re: Duck pond physics for Aether Dingleberries

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.physics/2008-08/msg00392.html>

- From: "Spaceman" <spaceman@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Mon, 4 Aug 2008 09:07:30 -0400
-

Matthew Johnson wrote:

In article
<03f4ae6c-912c-4b13-9b7d-9ac87b7c3ad8@xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx>,
Peri of Pera says...

<However, light not only moves with c but also $c+v$ and $c-v$.

No, it does not. That was the whole point of the famous M-M experiment.
Light always moves at speed c (in a vacuum).

The M-M did no such thing.
Light is a speed and all speeds are relative.

—
James M Driscoll Jr
Creator of the Clock Malfunction Theory
Spaceman