It was 1995, we spoke for over two hours, and two of the striking things he will remember about our conversation was my getting emotional on the topic of Gus and the fire, and that he told me I reminded him of his daughter (he didn't say which one, but judging from age I'm guessing Barbara.) If you call, please let me know what he says, and tell him I said hello. :-)*

That's a fine start. Why don't you provide that same information about your teammates, or the law enforcement personnel you spoke to?
