

Re: Space Policy Sucks, while there's Life on Venus

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.space.history/2005-03/1042.html>

From: Brad Guth (ieisbradguth_at_yahoo.com)

Date: 03/12/05

Date: 11 Mar 2005 23:28:15 -0800

Attn; Wade Spees For The Washington Post,
Since I'm not being allowed to read whatever you've posted (that certainly sucks), in that case I'm actually hoping that whomever 'Wade Spees' is, that quite possibly he doesn't suck. However, I'm not exactly sure if I've reminded folks enough, that in order to effectively contact me you may need to accomplish one better than posting within such a mainstream moderated to death forum that sucks, such as this NSA/MI6 GOOGLE.

In addition to my email and even incoming phone calls being thoughtfully diverted and/or moderated to death, it's been abundantly clear for some time that folks like 'Wade Spees' can become either forum excluded via electronic packet filtration, and/or forced into retracting any efforts at getting in touch with whatever others and myself are having to say in spite of our warm and fuzzy NASA.

Of whatever shows up on my computer from a given GOOGLE forum isn't necessarily what you'll see upon your computer. Remember, these are merely computer packet files that can be created, derived and/or moderated on the fly from just about anywhere upon Earth, and from anyone imposing as whomever they damn well fell like. Once you have the inside GOOGLE code and secret password, you're damn near God.

It's certainly not that I'm entirely right about absolutely every stinking detail, nor is my math even half baked, but I'd have to suggest that my personal slant on the provable hard-science that's related to our moon and that of Venus is offering somewhat of an honest though still subjective interpretation as to what's what.

If the likes of 'Wade Spees' that indicated as having an association with the Washington Post by way of including '(Wade Spees For The Washington Post)' is attempting to contribute whatever, or would like to contact myself, perhaps you'll have to accomplish that by a somewhat more direct means, since anyone of NSA/MI6 can impersonate whomever they want, certainly capable of diverting emails and even phone calls represents that even snail-mail is going to become somewhat testy at sci.space.history: Re: Space Policy Sucks, while there's Life on Venus best.

When I looked at anything suggesting as having received a reply by 'Wade Spees For The Washington Post', lo and behold there was no such contribution that even so much as included the name of 'Wade Spees'.

Of course, I've noticed a good number of my topics not receiving all that much attention for several years, though perhaps mostly because I'm being summarily banished by most forums and otherwise because I'm being stalked and bashed by most of the borg members of all others forums that suck.

Just in case, here's a couple of phone numbers: 1-253-8576061 and 253-820-7241

If whomever answers doesn't quite sound like myself, in that case you may have to come in person or send a personal courier. I suppose there are a few other options available, such as posting within the washingtonpost forum, however I've tried getting into that and it's like my access is being restricted to a few bps better than morse code.

Basic township that's situated upon Venus:

<http://guthvenus.tripod.com/gv-town.htm>

Basic LSE (Lunar Space Elevator)

<http://guthvenus.tripod.com/lunar-space-elevator.htm>

Regards, Brad Guth / GASA-IEIS topics:

<http://guthvenus.tripod.com/gv-topics.htm>