One can only hope...

Not to worry, it takes about 3 years to go through the application procedure ... unless they are refugees ... and it's unlikely the Democrats can last that long with screwing up and imploding. At the same time, our own right–wing government will have likely taken a curtain call by then, based on past history of Tory minority governments.

Interesting to see that Bush has finally fired Rumsfeld ... perhaps there is some hope for the administration ... now if only he would fire Cheney ...

No,no, Gates can more easily be manipulated by Cheney than Rumsfeld could. After all, 'stay the course' means spend more money on the war to help out my former company Halliburton. The move to Gates is to have a younger more active intel insider to do the neocon agenda's bidding.
