Son, what are you consprio-wackos gonna say when a rover goes to Hadley Rile, Fra Mauro, Sea of Tranquility, or any other Apollo landing sites and they find the LM descent stages, backpacks, flags, and footprints, hmm? Or the TDC left behind as a "tag" by Gene Cernan for his daughter at Taurus-Littrow? Or one of Al Shepard's golf balls at Fra Mauro? How are you nuts going to explain all that? You can't. You also can't explain the moon rocks brought back by the crews (some with particles of solar wind embedded in them). The conspiro-nuts are the ones with egg on their faces and crow to eat when either a rover goes back to a Apollo site or an Orion mission revisits an Apollo site (there was talk in the early '70s, even as Apollo wound down, of revisiting the Apollo 15 site at Hadley-Appenine in the future) and all the mission leftovers are still there. Take your meds, kindly adjust your tinfoil hat, and, if you still believe your conspiracy fantasy, then I have some beachfront property for sale-in New Mexico!

One other thing: enjoy killfile with all the other loons. PLONK.

Guthy Gander and his cohorts will just claim that it is all a lie and that the subsequent landings were faked, too. It is easy for conspiracy freaks to dream up another conspiracy to refute solid evidence that debunks their previous one.
