

Re: OT- Airliner lightning strike

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.space.history/2007-08/msg00689.html>

- From: Pat Flannery <flanner@xxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Wed, 29 Aug 2007 02:44:34 -0500
-

OM wrote:

...Switching his geese from spruce to gold, then?

Boy, you aren't even going to believe in this one... last night I had a dream in which we ran into each other, and you showed me around the capital of Texas on a personal tour.

I had no idea that Texas had a abandoned defective Soviet nuclear power station in it, whose concrete dome was held down by huge iron chains to keep it from exploding, or that the Texas legislature met in a huge, decaying, cut marble enclosure.

Or that you had dyed your hair blonde, but knew where there was a giant Star Trek exhibit of all the model starships from all the Star Trek series done to huge scale, so that a Romulan Warbird was around ten feet long. The fact that the whole dream went to black and white around the time that I was climbing up one of the huge chains to enter the radioactively polluted abandoned Texas Soviet reactor, or that the whole scene was strobing so that I looked like I was a character in Lang's "Metropolis", and that the inside of the reactor looked like a scene out of "The Cabinet Of Dr. Caligari" can only be considered as a added bonus in a really fun dream. :-)

Thanks!

Pat

.