

Re: Commercial Ares I?!

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.space.history/2008-04/msg00431.html>

- From: "Jeff Findley" <jeff.findley@xxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Mon, 21 Apr 2008 13:59:34 -0400
-

"Michael Gallagher" <mikejoe7g@xxxxxxxxxx> wrote in message
news:f8ih04dk4p1rchlr91gguub1nm5k14143v@xxxxxxxxxx

Except that the Altas and Deltas are also used for military, commercial, and NASA missions. Why shouldn't Ares have the same mix?

Atlas V and Delta IV were developed with some commercial investment as well as government funding. Ares will be developed entirely using government funding.

I think the name is just an hommage to the Saturn seris, with Ares 1 taking the place of Saturn 1B. Big Deal.

When were Saturn's used for military and commercial missions?

Jeff

--

A clever person solves a problem.
A wise person avoids it. -- Einstein

.