

Re: Kerry criticizes Bush's space vision

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.space.policy/2004-06/1439.html>

From: Pete Lynn (pete_at_peterlynnkites.com)

Date: 06/16/04

Date: Thu, 17 Jun 2004 09:43:02 +1200

"Hop David" <hopspageHATESSPAaMmM@tabletoptelephone.com> wrote in message news:40D07009.6060903@tabletoptelephone.com...

> http://www.space.com/news/kerry_report_040616.html

>

> An excerpt:

>

> "The most critical element of our space program should be > reducing the costs and increasing the reliability of space

> transportation to and from low Earth orbit," Kerry wrote. "This > is just one of the many critical areas lost in the Bush initiative."

>

That objective would require keeping NASA out of the launch industry, but I get the impression he wants NASA to build another shuttle – jobs, votes, etc. This seems exactly what is not wanted.

Pete.