

Re: USA develops space-based weapons

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.space.policy/2006-11/msg00400.html>

- From: "alain245@xxxxxxxxxxxxx" <alain245@xxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: 7 Nov 2006 19:07:51 -0800
-

Rand Simberg wrote:

On 6 Nov 2006 07:57:40 -0800, in a place far, far away, "Ed Kyle" <edkyle99@xxxxxxxxxxxxx> made the phosphor on my monitor glow in such a way as to indicate that:

Al Qaeda is a minor player in Iraq. The insurgency is based on local militia – local guys who get mad when they see a U.S. patrol in their town and want to do something about it.

This war is being lost on the streets of Iraq, not on U.S. streets.

Not on US streets. In US newspapers, and on US television.

Until now the US newspapers and television have had little effect on the war in Iraq. The strategy of Bush has been to stay the course regardless of US public opinion. This is probably about to change with the elections going on but until now, this is how it has been.

The public opinion that has made a difference in the war is the Iraqi public opinion, with a majority of Iraqis who think it is OK to kill US troops, it is very difficult for US troops to win.

Alain Fournier

.