Hey how do you go about marking your posts so they are not archived?

Also, can you go back and delete archived stuff? You know, the way Bush went back and deleted all references to his cocaine use? (And then got a cocaine using reporter to leak the story and then bust the reporter on cocaine possession – to THAT became the story! lol)

Or the way senators can go back and rewrite their statements before it goes to print?

That would be AWESOME! lol.

what have you been smoking? Can I get some? LOL

Smoking? You're probably right in assuming that anything the least bit mysterious about the Son on the Living God would be drawn into some sensationalist propoganda machine like the Sun, Enquirer, Globe, etc., NOT because of any less credible value, but, of course, the ability of the mass of AVERAGE BELIEVERS to afford the purchase of that kind of rag...

Re: The Top Technology of All Time and Space

Your reaction to things spoken that are not very well understood by people like yourself are every indication that there WOULD PROBABLY HAVE TO BE A RAPTURE before 14-year-olds, like yourself, become crack addicts.

Interesting that this unusually verbose Christian addict would waste our time in the space forum. I find it particularly perplexing that so called people of faith are so incessantly preposterous in their beligerence towards intelligent humans who view their faith somewhat bemusedly. (Me in particular)

It's no wonder they killed so many non believers in their rush to salvation. Has their propensity for violence finally been usurped by the Moslem zealots? It would appear so, although this chappy could be in the running for suicide bomber of the year.

Normally, I'd say "don't feed the trolls" but in this case, I have to say "well said!!"

Even the sigmonster agrees.
