

Re: It's 1972 all over!

Re: It's 1972 all over!

---

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.space.policy/2007-02/msg00178.html>

---

- From: kT <cosmic@xxxxxxxxxxxxx>
  - Date: Sun, 04 Feb 2007 18:29:38 -0600
-

Rand Simberg wrote:

I will give that one to you! I do not want to see the SSME's go into storage!

I do. They're a disaster economically, and from an operability standpoint.

Which is why we only want to use them as end of life demonstrators.

You know, until those big assed full flow staged combustion engines with the hydrostatic bearings and the channel wall nozzles come on line.

While Griffin has been flailing around, we've been designing rockets.

—

The Tsiolkovsky Group : <http://www.lifeform.org>

My Planetary BLOB : <http://cosmic.lifeform.org>

Get A Free Orbiter Space Flight Simulator :

<http://orbit.medphys.ucl.ac.uk/orbit.html>

.