

Re: Global wireless hotspot

Source: <http://sci.tech--archive.net/Archive/sci.space.policy/2008-02/msg00001.html>

- From: Jim Davis <jimdavis2@xxxxxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Fri, 1 Feb 2008 01:19:45 +0100 (CET)
-

Rand Simberg wrote:

If that's the case, then you'll provide an actual citation in which I did such a thing: date and post number, with quote. But we know that you won't, because you never do, because you never can, because I didn't say any such thing—it is simply Ian's fantasy. You just continue to lie about me with no evidence.

The following seems to be the template for every thread Ian Parker starts:

Parker: US soldiers in Iraq are carving up babies with their bayonets and eating them for snacks.

Other poster: That's ridiculous!! Where do you get this stuff?

Parker: It's a matter of public record! Look at these pictures at this link and this link and this link. Those soldiers are carrying bayonets!! It's a matter of public record that US soldiers are issued bayonets!! How can any reasonable person dispute the fact that US soldiers are issued bayonets!! No matter how many times you deny the fact that US soldiers are issued bayonets..etc, etc, etc.

Jim Davis

.