If the Democrats win the White House this year, I think they'll end up pushing Falcon9/Dragon instead of Ares 1/Orion. This would accomplish the following 3 goals:

- 1) The budget for manned spaceflight could be drastically cut, while maintaining a minimal capability to meet international commitments regarding the ISS.
- 2) Project Constellation could be killed in the crib by permanently eliminating the industrial base that would produce it.
- 3) If launches take place from Wallops Island, NASA's largess would shift to Greenbelt, MD, Langley, VA, and Wallops Island, VA (Blue and Purple states) from Houston, TX, Huntsville, AL, and Cape Canaveral, FL (Red states).

Re: SpaceX vs. Japan

Wow, someone that admits that there are state colors WRT NASA.

No, he just shares your idiot delusions.

Yes, ideas that clash with yours aren't ideas, they are delusions.
Lots of delusional people in Rand's world.

Do you think Bush and the GOP in general give a rat's ass about international relationships in space? ISS became international during Clinton's time after Reagan's failed attempt at the mostly American "Freedom" space station.

US, Canada, ESA, Japan.

Notice how the Russians joined in. Yes, the Evil Empire as Reagan put it.

Freedom was about as international as Bush's war in Iraq is.

Exactly. It was extremely international.

Extremely international? Now THAT is delusional!

Idiot.

That is what you call everyone who has a different political view than your own.

Remember Rand, being from Flint, Michigan, your best best to becoming famous, as is your want, is to hook up with the most famous resident of Flint, Michigan, Michael Moore. hahahahahahahahahahaha
