

Re: New NK launch site nears readiness

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.space.policy/2009-05/msg00103.html>

- From: fairwater@xxxxxxxx (Derek Lyons)
 - Date: Wed, 13 May 2009 04:59:08 GMT
-

Allen Thomson <thomsona@xxxxxxxx> wrote:

On May 8, 2:10 am, Pat Flannery <flan...@xxxxxxxx> wrote:

They end up with three or four ICBM launch facilities... and a Ohio-class sub could kill 100% of the entire country's population inside of an hour after they shoot one at us.

I trust the NKs Google Earth at 47.743 N, 122.732 W now and then.

Why would they bother? The boats they're worried about are sea, all nuking the Delta will do is piss them off.

D.

--

Touch-twice life. Eat. Drink. Laugh.

<http://derek11963.livejournal.com/>

-Resolved: To be more temperate in my postings.
Oct 5th, 2004 JDL

.