

Re: When is the next ISS assembly mission?

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.space.shuttle/2005-07/msg00158.html>

- From: "Jorge R. Frank" <jrfrank@xxxxxxxxxxx>
 - Date: Tue, 12 Jul 2005 18:31:04 -0500
-

"Joseph S. Powell, III" <nospam@xxxxxxxxxxx> wrote in news:SqVAe.4857\$5R1.971@xxxxxxxxxx:

> This launch will take appx 12 tons of equipment for the ISS, but when > will further components of the station be launched?

STS-115/ISS-12A, scheduled for February 2006. It's carrying the P3/P4 truss segments and associated solar arrays.

--
JRF

Reply-to address spam-proofed - to reply by E-mail, check "Organization" (I am not assimilated) and think one step ahead of IBM.

.

- Follow-Ups:
 - ◆ Re: When is the next ISS assembly mission?
 - ◇ From: Joseph S. Powell, III
- References:
 - ◆ When is the next ISS assembly mission?
 - ◇ From: Joseph S. Powell, III
- Prev by Date: Re: accident on pad -- damage -- overnight fix possible
- Next by Date: Re: accident on pad -- damage -- overnight fix possible
- Previous by thread: When is the next ISS assembly mission?
- Next by thread: Re: When is the next ISS assembly mission?
- Index(es):
 - ◆ Date
 - ◆ Thread