5) For sake of completion, once I collected enough information about using a scope and after I purchased all equipment I need, I would disconnect my computer(s) to ensure that I have some time left to use my new toy rather than just talk about it.

Aw, you had me, right up to there you had me agreeing with every word, then you blew it! What's the fun in having a new toy if you can't talk about it to like-minded types?
