If you want access to a demo, make sure it is widely known that you will pay CASH and accept IMMEDIATE delivery. This means you need to be well informed as to the product, its pricing and functionality BEFORE the demo equipment becomes available.

Where does one get this information? From the dealer? I haven't even seen a list of options, let alone a price list, from any of the big four. The only thing I've seen that even comes close is the "system view" in the back of the brochures.
