I am thinking about getting a simple, easy-to-use microscope for my 7 year old granddaughter. She loves bugs. She has an ant farm and a fish tank. I think she would enjoy looking at live things, such as little critters in pond water and the like as well as leaves, salt crystals, etc.

I have been reading recent posts. It seems that a stereo zoom scope would be the choice.

Can anyone recommend a specific brand? Model number would be great.

Is this something I can get at a toy store? If not where?

Any good online dealers?

I was thinking about around $100, but would be willing to go to $200 or even $300 if it would make the difference in her being able to use it.

Thanks
