

Re: Motic, Bresser

Source: <http://sci.tech-archive.net/Archive/sci.techniques.microscopy/2008-07/msg00009.html>

- From: "IW2GNB" <iw2@xxxxxxx>
 - Date: Wed, 2 Jul 2008 21:10:25 +0200
-

Your right if you willing to buy one of the big four brands. They make great instruments.

Sure, but at unreachable prices for hobbyists.

Buy any thing else and you on your own. I just fixed a cheezy cheapo microscope for a customer, well, it wasn't really repairable but I made it less crappy than it was. They needed it for the three weeks until their parts got here. It was a frustrating job on a microscope with no design and darn few working optics.

It's different in most other high-tech fields: take cell phones. The worst cheapest chinese thing of today is still a dream machine compared to the first Motorola phones of the '90s...